

A,
I missed you
The way we laughed
We were the ultimate duo
Attached at the hip
Sisters

When you got sick
I didn't know where to stand
Didn't know what to say
Didn't understand
We grew apart

We tried to remain the same
But the air between us
Was different and unsettling
Not like before

It became a toxic relationship
We had to separate
But even since then, it hasn't been the same
You call me from where you are Sometimes I don't pick up
Because my anxiety gets in the way
Or because it's often an unknown number

We have recently caught up
Ending our conversation in tears
Missing each other
Missing things the way they used to be Wanting to become friends the way we were Agreeing it was the easiest friendship each of us has ever had
That has made our distance hurt the most Losing something so valuable and rare

It's sad to say
But I don't know if we will ever be able to get to that point again
Or even reconnect at all
Because I've felt triggered throughout our interactions
And I can't speak for how you feel, but it's probably hard for you too
I know we don't want that for each other
We want the best for one another

I would kill for my best friend back
But we have to do what's best
Maybe one day our paths will cross again
By letting fate be the determining test of time
But I won't stop thinking about you
And wishing you all the best

For now our relationship looks different
Different from what we had always pictured
But my better half is still there
Just in a different place

And if the time comes
To have both halves together
We will be whole again
A reunion like no other
But for now we must wait
And let the universe work it's magic e.g.